

D-08 THE DEAD COMMERCIALS

MIRKO SMERDEL

On Wednesday the 4th of May 2011 on the walkside of via Schievano in Milan, a roll of 35 mm film was found, unrolled and abandoned.

The film has been recovered, restored, and scanned. It contains six commercials for different products: Lega del filo d'oro, Lipton Tea Time, Diffusionetessile, Foxy Mega, Tantum Angelini, Groupama.

If we look at each single photograph, isolated from the narrative flow, the perception of these commercials radically changes and almost grotesque new features seem to appear.

Stripped of their primary function - that is, inducing the desire to consume - the film clips mounted on the gallery wall form the sentence "The more voices there are, the more spin there is", taken from the script of the film Diary of the Dead, in which director George A. Romero reflects on the role of media within society through the codes of horror movies.

Installation view: original found film mounted on wall, variable dimensions

Detail of a photogram